

Review of: "Promoting Pro-Environmental Behavior for Sustainable Water Resource Management: A Social Exchange Perspective"

Ojilve Ramón Medrano-Pérez

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

The paper provides a reflexing read that gives a perspective on promoting behavioral changes for water conservation in Iran. It is necessary to improve the methodology section including the use of Nudges about future efforts toward saving water. In the same way, it is necessary to include study cases with details and data about specific examples. Could be interesting to include papers in the introduction section that give a complete perspective on this topic worldwide.