

Review of: "Toxicological evaluation of aqueous extracts of Clematis hirsuta and Rhamnus prinoides"

Muhammad Arfan Zaman¹

¹ University of Veterinary & Animal Science

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

Please elaborate that the plant extraction method used in this study is similar to the extraction method used for evaluate their properties against Diabetes?

Why the only supernatant were used for further study?

Heat liable chemicals are likely to be lost in boiling, how do you justify this method?

Gender-selection of the animal may kindly be elaborated?

Huge difference in the doses may kindly be explained?

HPLC of the extraction is require to find chemical composition of the plants. It is highly recommended, if possible.

Biological use of the plants may elaborated in more details?