

Review of: "Why Corruption in Nigeria? Experts' Accounts on the Occurrences and Persistence"

Griselda Lassaga¹

¹ Universidad de Belgrano

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

This article shows a global phenomenon focus in Nigeria. It's highlighting how clear are the graphics to classified and understand the collected information.

The author made a good analysis on the empirical data. Notwithstanding, is like the conclusions should have a greater development. As a suggestion, failed to make a nicer contribution using all the work developed previously, for example was expectated to see how the results will reflect a proposal of public policy recommendations.