Dear Authors,

Congratulations on the study conducted. The analysis highlights useful information for farmers to identify reproductive disorders of dairy cows in the area of research.

In my opinion, you should present an analysis of the questionnaire survey administered to the farm owners, this could highlight patterns and allow other groups to replicate the study in different contexts. More clarity on the selection criteria and number of animals studied per farm would allow the reader to better navigate the results. Finally, you could expand on the scalability of the research to other areas and/or for a larger population.

Regards.
