This article has described the reality of the research topic in the life of Maluku people in general. However, there are still several sections that need to be reviewed contextually and holistically by the authors, as follows:

1. This study focuses on the Allang community, however, it has yet to show the dynamics of pela gandong in the Allang community itself.
2. The construction of the values of Christian education as a "crucial" part of this study has not been shown.
3. Technically, this study tends to repeat existing sentences which the authors should be paid attention to and be corrected.
