1. REVIEW REPORT FOR THE ARTICLE

The topic is up-to-date and very important. Overall writing is good but needs improvement in a few areas to publish it.

I will be focusing more on the methodology and the papers used in this "literature review".

The text gives the impression that research done to prepare this article is too general to be considered as a scientific paper (lack of analysis and synthesis, no clear methodology, no real result).

It is more interesting to include more articles that tackle organizational decision-making processes. Recommendations:

- Explain and justify the research question (rationale)
- Prepare a deep literature review.
- State clearly the methodology
- Present a deep Analysis of each of the sections suggested.
- Present also a table that present title, authors, focus of the paper in relation of the question dealt with

Final Comments: major modification.
