

Open Peer Review on Qeios

European Open Science Cloud

Leonardo Candela¹

¹ Italian National Research Council

European Open Science Cloud (EOSC) refers to the initiative(s) promoted by the European Commission to develop an IT system providing its users with services facilitating Open Science. Services include existing services developed to serve the needs of one or more community of practice as well as forthcoming services. The development of the EOSC system requires the development of technologies, policies and practices crossing the borders of research domains and organizations.