

Review of: "Redefining borders in the contested territory between San Pedro and San Andres Cholula"

Juan Jose Natera-Rivas¹

¹ Universidad de Málaga

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

It is an interesting text from the local point of view; It has good theoretical foundations, and its application to the case study is very appropriate. The cartographic device is adequate, and allows the reader to locate the case study. In this sense, the historical approach that is carried out is very appropriate for the correct understanding of the current situation. Its internal structure is coherent, as are the sources used for its writing. In my opinion, the text is publishable.