Base of the Pericardium

National Cancer Institute

Source

The inferior surface of the conical membranous sac in which the heart and roots of the aorta and other large blood vessels are contained. This surface rests on the diaphragm and is fused with the diaphragm's central tendons.