The abstract section does not contain the obtained results from this study. The important obtained outputs should definitely be added to this section. The advantages of the study compared to its similars in the literature should be discussed more emphatically. Unfortunately, it looks very superficial this way. The figures used in the study are not clear and understandable. The relevant figures must be replaced with new ones. Current literature studies should be used. The references seem to be chosen from very old time periods. As a result, the study requires significant corrections.

Best regards and yours sincerely,
