

Review of: "Examining the Impact of Green Finance on Carbon Emissions in India through Energy Consumption Optimization"

Sarla Pareek¹

¹ Banasthali University

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

The paper under review is "Examining the Impact of Green Finance on Carbon Emissions in India through Energy Consumption Optimization". This is a theoretical paper. Language is constructive and good. The new idea is very well explained. The paper concludes well.

Although the facts are explained clearly but the figures for the analysis of the mechanism is missing. It would be better if the author provides the data by which the conclusion is made about the nonlinear relationship between green finance and carbon emission. In this respect a minor revision is required.