This is a very well written paper, with clear and concise description of the study. References have been appropriately sighted.

However, there are some points I would like to address as below:

- Some sentences, including the purpose of the study, have been repeated several times.
- The sample size has not been determined.
- The survey items asked about drinking experience in the previous 12 months of high school life. This time period could be affected by recall bias, how have you controlled for this?
