

Review of: "Growth, Instability and Trend Analysis of Rice Production Indicators in Nigeria"

James Kofi Blay¹

¹ Akenten Appiah-Menka University

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

1. In the methodological section, the author(s) divided the data into 4 periods without any scientific or literary justification for such division.
2. The authors need to specify the type of decomposition method.
3. The authors need to improve the grammatical status of the work.
4. The authors need to delineate the problem statement with the criticality and justification of the study as the contribution of the paper to scientific knowledge or policy formulation.
5. Provide justification for the changes in area and productivity by including other relevant exogenous factors.