

Review of: "Strategies for Management and Long-term Surveillance of Pediatric Differentiated Thyroid Cancer: Balancing Efficacy and Quality of Life"

Montserrat Negre Busó¹

¹ Hospital Universitari de Girona Doctor Josep Trueta

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

The article is a very good summary and update of the latest publications on thyroid cancer in children. However, I do not see the bibliography referenced in the text, and some of the articles do not show the relationship and where they can be included. I also mention that the title of the article talks about balancing efficacy and quality of life, and the latter subject is not developed exhaustively as it could be.