

Open Peer Review on Qeios

Immunodeficiency due to selective anti-polysaccharide antibody deficiency

INSERM

Source

INSERM. (1999). Orphanet: an online rare disease and orphan drug data base.

Immunodeficiency due to selective anti-polysaccharide antibody deficiency.

ORPHA:70593

Immunodeficiency due to selective anti-polysaccharide antibody deficiency is characterized by normal immunoglobulin levels (including IgG sub-classes) but impaired polysaccharide responsiveness (IPR).