

Review of: "The Uniqueness of the Medieval Persian Art"

Narjes Monfared¹

¹ Alzahra University

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

Dear prof,

Your contributions to Persian culture are greatly appreciated. As an Iranian individual, I am particularly interested in your work. I have a few suggestions that I believe would be beneficial for your research.

I believe that Ferdowsi's significant contribution to preserving the Persian language deserves mention in the "Persia" section. Following the Arab invasion of Iran, Ferdowsi, along with other intellectuals, played a crucial role in safeguarding Iranian identity and language. Additionally, the principles of Islam were integrated into Iranian society in harmony with its rich cultural heritage. Iranian Muslim thinkers and philosophers played a pivotal role in interpreting Shiite Islam with a wise approach rooted in their ancient traditions. Shiite Islam in Iran has been influenced by Zoroastrian traditions and infused with wisdom and intellectualism. For additional information, I have included some references for your review.

Identifying the different decorative arts in medieval Iran and working with an expert can ensure a comprehensive examination of this topic. To ensure a comprehensive review, it is important to specify the type of decorative art being examined. I think it would be a good idea to include the criteria for purposive sampling in order to focus the review on specific aspects of Iranian decoration. Consulting with a knowledgeable expert on Iranian culture and civilization could provide valuable insights and ensure that no important decorative elements are overlooked. By seeking expertise in this field, a qualitative review of Iranian decorative art can be conducted in a more thorough and comprehensive manner.

Specifying the research problem and highlighting its contribution to human culture and civilization would also strengthen your work.

In conclusion, a more detailed analysis based on qualitative findings would enhance the productivity of your research.

Thank you for your insightful contributions to Iranian culture.

Best regards,