

Review of: "Post-Conflict Reconstruction: How Social Identity Change Informs our Understanding of the Ukrainian Experience of Forced Migration"

Anindita Shome<sup>1</sup>

<sup>1</sup> Vellore Institute of Technology

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

The article is an in-depth analysis of the experiences of Ukrainian women refugees or guests in the UK. The topic of research is a much-needed one to understand the psycho-social conditions of the refugees. The findings of the article open up newer avenues for further research on refugees and asylum seekers. The importance of tackling the secondary stressors that the refugees experience post-conflict and post-migration is one of the fundamental contributions of the article. I would highly recommend the article to those who are working with refugees. My only suggestion would be to thoroughly proofread the article once.