

Review of: "An approach to the background, methods and challenges of research in disasters"

Amir Aghsami<sup>1</sup>

<sup>1</sup> University of Tehran

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

1. The authors should present the research questions in the introduction.
2. The introduction section should be improved. It should precisely express contributions and the paper's main difference from most related studies.
3. The main keywords for searching research in the study should be included.
4. The trends and papers analysis for disaster management using Bibliometrics are encouraged.
5. Some ideas for future studies should be included.
6. More research on disaster in the recent years should be reviewed.
7. All types of disaster should be clarified and discussed considering the challenges of each one.
8. All activities in disaster managements during, and after a disaster must be presented and discussed from a view point of challenges.