Dear editor,

Thank you for giving me the opportunity to review the current manuscript. Although the research has been prepared in a professional way, I have a few comments for further improvement. Kindly find them below:

- The abstract is too large, the authors may summarize the main purpose of research, method, summary of research contribution, obtained findings and policy suggestions accordingly.
- The authors can elaborate in the introduction section the Ethiopia's national strategy for climate change mitigation so that to give more holistic view on the ground of which the current research stems from.
- The three major reasons for conducting the research impact of climate change in Ethiopia Assessing effectiveness; Climate change adaptation; Policy formulation and decision-making; and Knowledge sharing and replication should be supported by references (previous studies and/or institutional reports).
- In equation (3), provide a description for the term U.
- The policy suggestions are very general, authors should provide more specific policy tools for mitigating climate change via trees planting and growing.
- The obtained results should be discussed in more detail, taking into consideration more evidence from the existing literature (supporting and non-supporting).
- Authors should add a statement at the end of introduction section outlining how the rest of research is structured.
- Authors may add "Ethiopia" into the keywords.
