

Open Peer Review on Qeios

Primary unilateral adrenal hyperplasia

INSERM

Source

INSERM. (1999). Orphanet: an online rare disease and orphan drug data base. Primary unilateral adrenal hyperplasia. ORPHA:231580

Primary unilateral adrenal hyperplasia (PUAH) is a surgically-correctable form of primary (hyper) aldosteronism (PA; see this term) characterized by renin suppression, unilateral aldosterone hypersecretion, and moderate to severe hypertension secondary to hyperplasia of the adrenal gland.