Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

The author's point of view and the identification of goals and objectives must be included in the introduction section.

More detail is needed in the methods section, including a sequenced list of sample size, including the details of the questionnaire and the methods used for data collection and analysis, etc. These would be helpful to the reader and could enhance the context of your findings. The data analysis part and the results section must be kept separate.

Significant findings have to be presented in the results section using a maximum of at least 4 or 5 tables or graphs. Additionally, must have a significant value / P value with a specific variable link.

Results and discussion section must be kept separate. Discussion section needed to be significantly corrected, a full or rewritten literature review was required. Comparing and contrasting ideas while also expressing the author's personal viewpoint was a good idea.

Conclusion section must be separated from the recommendation section.
