

Review of: "Water-Energy Nexus in Power Systems: A Review"

Saon Ray

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

The paper deals with an important issue.

The paper is a survey of the literature and adequately discusses various facets of the literature, highlighting the complexities of the issues.

It is clearly written.

The only point that could be added in the section on international policies is the role of international cooperation and multilateral forums such as the G20.