Dear Authors, the topic of your manuscript is interesting and informative. I have a few suggestions regarding your article.

1- The introduction is very long, especially the first part of this section. It is better to only state the prevalence of COVID-19 in your country and also the neurologic manifestations of COVID-19 infection.

2- In the results section, you should explain more about the details of the population studied in the reviewed articles.

3- You should also mention the total number of patients under review in the articles as well as the proportion of patients with neurological complications.

4- In the results section, no statistics or numbers are provided.

With best regards,
