

Review of: "Examining Sustainable Survival Tactics for Small-Scale Bakeries: A Case Study in Lagos State"

Tomasz Witold Trojanowski Trojanowski¹

¹ Jan Kochanowski University

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

The topic of the study is important and current in terms of running a business in the aspect of sustainable development. However, the article requires serious corrections. The introduction should specify the subject of the research. They suggest clearly defining the research methodology. The summary and conclusions need to be improved. The literature presented in the article raises serious reservations. The limited and very outdated list of publications casts a shadow over the entire work. The article should become more scientific.