

Review of: "The Global Impact on Health of Dental Infections and Antibiotic Resistance:A mini Reveiw"

Jacques E. Mokhbat<sup>1</sup>

<sup>1</sup> Lebanese American University

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

It seems that the article presents a very short review of some of the results of papers on the topic of dental infections.

There are a few points that need to be addressed:

1. The article does not present the global impact on health as mentioned in the title
2. There is no analysis of the numbers and percentages of organisms, and no mention of the different viruses that may cause dental infection as suggested in the introduction
3. There is no suggestion of a solution or recommendation for correcting the abuse of antibiotics
4. There is no conclusion.

I suggest reviewing these points and finalizing the article accordingly.