

Review of: "Factors contributing to labour unrest at the garment factories in Bangladesh: A cross-sectional study"

Héritier Nsenge Mpia

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

The paper is about investigating factors that contribute to labor unrest at the garment factories in Bangladesh. The manuscript is well written and it is addressing a current situation of social life in Bangladesh. However, I would suggest the authors to add a paragraph at the end of the introduction section that emphasizes the rest of the paper sections. Moreover, the authors should also bring out the main contribution of the study. In general, the paper is well written