The study entitled "Exploring the Significance and Medicinal Potential of Rubus fraxinifolius: A Review of Ragimot Wild Berry" is a good piece of work. I endorse the publication of the manuscript after major correction. However, I have some suggestions, the incorporation of which will increase the quality of the work.

1. The introduction should be made concise because it is very lengthy. The latest references should be added to the introduction.
2. Nutritional composition: Authors should add more information.
3. Functional properties - it is correct.
4. English language and grammatical errors should be checked thoroughly.

Decision: MS accepted after major corrections.
