

Review of: "Climate Change and Sustainability: A Comparative Case Study"

Shanaka Kariyawasam¹

¹ University of Moratuwa

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

Appreciate the relevance of the research topic, which is timely. However, the manuscript lacks depth in following areas of a scientific research:

1. Literature review
2. Methodology (justification of variables, justification of case studies, data, method of analysis)
3. Results and discussion
4. Citations

The comparability of case studies is questionable, and the variables used for comparison are inconsistent. Proper analysis and discussion are not provided. I believe this manuscript will not contribute anything new to the body of knowledge on sustainability or climate change.