Thank you for sharing your paper with me for review. I appreciate the opportunity to provide feedback and comments on your work. Overall, I found your paper to be well-written and well-organized. Your research is both relevant and interesting, and I appreciate the effort you put into conducting this study.

However, I do have some comments and suggestions that I believe would improve your paper. I hope you find my feedback constructive and helpful. Please note that my comments are meant to provide guidance and suggestions, and should be taken as constructive criticism.

- Nomenclature is demanded

- there are many typo in paper

- more analysis is demanded to show the efficiency of proposed model.

- the proposed model should be compared with the presented methods in literature review

- Sensitivity analysis is demanded

- What is your motivation to use the proposed solution method in this paper? What is the advantages of this method in comparison with other models?
