

Review of: "Relationship between In Vitro Physical Properties and In Situ Biofilm Formation of Fissure Sealants"

Ramtin Dastgir¹

¹ New York University (NYU)

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

The authors have aimed to explore whether the surface properties of different dental sealant materials affect biofilm formation in this well-conducted in-vitro study. The authors have utilized appropriate methodology, and the manuscript is well-written.