

Review of: "[Viewpoint] Vaccination campaigns against Covid-19 may promote vaccine hesitancy toward mostly well-established, safe, and effective vaccines"

Cesar Segarra

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

Overall, the abstract introduces important themes but could benefit from more specific evidence and improved organization to make it more engaging and informative for readers.

The paper addresses important aspects related to COVID-19 vaccinations and vaccine hesitancy. To further enhance the paper, consider providing specific examples, references to studies and events related to the discussed adverse effects and narrative tactics.