Malignant Ovarian Serous Tumor

National Cancer Institute

Source

National Cancer Institute. Malignant Ovarian Serous Tumor. NCI Thesaurus. Code C40025.

An invasive malignant neoplasm that arises from the ovary and is characterized by the presence of malignant epithelial cells that, in well differentiated tumors, resemble the epithelium of the fallopian tube or, in poorly differentiated tumors, show anaplastic features and marked nuclear atypia. It includes serous adenocarcinoma and serous adenocarcinofibroma.
