

Review of: "Analysing crimes in public spaces of New Delhi through news reports: The need and possibility of integrating Crime Prevention through Environmental Design Principles."

Amin Pujiati<sup>1</sup>

<sup>1</sup> Universitas Negeri Semarang

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

It was truly fascinating to delve into your work and explore the innovative perspective of viewing crimes through the lens of environmental design.

Your article is thoughtfully crafted and demonstrates a unique approach to understanding the complex relationship between environmental factors and criminal behavior. I found the way you intertwined concepts of urban planning, architecture, and criminology to be both engaging and insightful. Your research not only provides fresh insights but also has the potential to contribute significantly to the existing body of knowledge in this interdisciplinary field.

One aspect of your article that particularly stood out to me was the robust foundation of research you've built upon. The sufficient number of references and data you've incorporated adds substantial weight to your research argument. It reflects a comprehensive understanding of the subject matter and validates the credibility of your findings. This is indeed a commendable aspect of your work.