

Review of: "[Commentary] Implications of HPV infectivity in early diagnosis and treatment of advanced/recurrent malignancies"

Somayeh Hassani¹

¹ National Research Institute of Tuberculosis and Lung Diseases

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

This article is interesting; however,

- The authors should distinguish between different genera of HPV, as well as between low-risk and high-risk HPVs.
- Needs further clarification about clinical research and basic medical research.
- The paragraphs feel disconnected.
- The authors should rewrite the abstract and highlight the main clue presented within this manuscript.