

Review of: "Allergies In India: Myths, Misconceptions, and Awareness"

Nitish Aggarwal¹

¹ Dr. Baba Saheb Ambedkar Hospital, Delhi

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

It is a good study as allergies are very common presentation in our practice.

What was the criteria used to diagnose a patient with allergy especially allergic rhinitis which guidelines commonly practiced were employed and what investigations were done?

Questions regarding 'can surgical management cure allergic rhinitis' should have been included as it's an exceedingly common myth among patients that we see on day to day practice.

How was allergic rhinitis differentiated from NARES?