

Review of: "Channeling the Flow — A Metaphor for Computer Programs"

Katarina Pisačić

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

This paper has a philosophical approach, and while I agree with the conclusions since they agree with my understanding of constraints, a practical example, a code through which the terminology would be explained, would bring more value to the work. In its current form, the article presents hypotheses and provides conclusions without real evidence.