The manuscript describes the use of herbal preparation for the treatment of Covid. It is in accordance with various traditional treatments mentioned in Ayurveda, Unani, Siddha, Homeopathy, Chinese system of medicine, etc. The contribution made by author is appreciable. I would like to urge the authors to ponder their thoughts on some more relevant points to be included in the manuscript.

1. The use of various modern drugs proposed to treat Covid patients and their side effects there after.
2. The synergistic approach of various components of traditional treatment to cure any disease and also boosting the immune power of patients to fight against the pathological conditions.
3. Introduction about the combinational therapies used for disease prevention can be included.
