

Review of: "The Ancient Indian Knowledge System and the Medical Sciences"

K Chandra Sekar¹

¹ G.B. Pant Institute of Himalayan Environment and Development

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

In view of importance of ancient Indian knowledge system, the article should be considered for publication. For little improvement, the following points may be considered:

Different types of ancient system can be explained separately. In the Introduction can be provided the generalized importance of ancient knowledge, instead of specific to nadi pariksha.

The Vedas: The first sentence starts with 'The', please check.

What is the need of 'Mind-body relationship'? The author can specific to the ancient knowledge system.

Conclusion can be improved.