In this form, the version is good, but the majority of the latest references are absent. Revise the whole abstract as per the objective with more intelligibility. The article's English is very poor, and several sentences are very long. There are also no comparisons between the approaches. Please update the acknowledgement and funding statements, as well. In addition, edit several references and add some key comments concerning the work's benefits and drawbacks. This manuscript can be accepted for publication after a critical revision. My other suggestion is a major and important change, kindly citing the hottest references.
