The article was good and has scientific merit. Shall be accepted based on the editorial board's decision.

Minor revisions required:

1. Ensure the plant names are all italicized.
2. The chemicals and reagents need to address the product specifications.
3. No mention of docking in the introduction - add some brief points on docking in the introduction.
4. Any confirmation test specifically done for the compounds mentioned? (If not, please cite the previous studies.)
5. Statistical analysis: Mention the software used.
6. Discussion is too condensed. Needs to be discussed based on the results.
