

Review of: "Design of an intelligent controller for improving the solar system efficiency"

Karin Kandananond¹

¹ Phranakorn Rajabhat University

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

The article is well organized and straight to the point, as described in the abstract. Anyway, it is a good idea to give more details about the PV system as well as its controller parameters. Based on Figure 10, the impact of solar radiation and temperature on the performance of the two methods should be elaborately analyzed and discussed.