

Review of: "Aquaponics Unveiled: Efficient Household Farming"

Francesco Secundo¹

¹ Italian National Research Council

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

The article serves as a valuable tutorial for individuals aspiring to delve into the realm of aquaponics. The author offers a comprehensive overview of the equipment required to assemble an aquaponic system. However, additional details are warranted, particularly concerning the components associated with the bacterial filter. Furthermore, enhancing the article could involve incorporating insights on the specific species of fish that can be cultivated, in addition to detailing various types of plants. Including tips on the types of bacteria involved, along with guidance on obtaining nitrifying bacteria and their sources, would also contribute significantly to the article's overall improvement.