The following recommendations are given for the reviewed paper:

- the theoretical basis of the research should be expanded and compared with the opinions of other authors recently published,
- using the sorting characteristics of the evaluated sample, it would be appropriate to correlate the degree of influence of different theories and their dominance in decision-making processes,
- supplementing the discussion of research results with the findings of other authors as a scientific and exact basis for the recommendations formulated in the conclusion,
- the language should be revised.
