Review paper addresses the heavy metal concentrations in meats and their impact on human health reported in Asia. The author has well reviewed the literature, and the manuscript is well written. The following suggestions need to be incorporated in the manuscript before publication.

1. The title is not good; it should be more attractive, like i.e., "Level of toxic metals/metalloids in meat and meat products in Asian countries and impact on human health."
2. Abstract: The manuscript objectives are not well explained. Objectives should be described in point form.
3. Only one table for China is given; more tables should be given for other countries as well.
4. More tables/graphs should be added in the literature.
5. The paper is accepted with minor revision.
