1. Abstract Contains research objectives, analysis methods and research results. The research abstract above does not yet provide an analysis method. The abstract should contain 150-200 words.
2. In the research background, there is a lack of studies regarding gaps in previous research related to the topic above. It would be better to add a study of previous research gaps in this background.
3. The Panel Data Method (whether using logarithms or not) needs to be explained in the analysis stages and the time series data information has not been included.
4. The references used are still very minimal.
5. There is no novelty in this research.
