

Review of: "Evolution of Perceived Vulnerability to Infection in Japan During the COVID-19 Pandemic"

Kadir Uludağ¹

¹ Shanghai Mental Health Center, Shanghai, China

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

Thank you very much for the interesting study. We have listed our recommendations here.

1-) You can mention the methodology of the study clearly in the abstract section.

2-) You can also mention literature related to inflammation and happiness.

3-) You can mention the following in the introduction section:

The global COVID-19 pandemic has not just influenced health, political, and social structures worldwide but has also significantly harmed academic journals and research organizations. Many publications have shown a preference for articles focusing on COVID-19 that offer crucial and efficient strategies to combat the current crisis (Uludag, 2022).

Uludag, K. (2022). 'Coronary Blindness: Desensitization after excessive exposure to coronavirus-related information'. Health Policy and Technology, 11(3), 100625.

4-) You can mention more about the inclusion and exclusion criteria in the methods section.

2-)