After reviewing the article "Study of four families of the suborder Brachycera (Insecta: Diptera)," I would like to highlight that my suggestions or contributions aim to improve the quality of your article. In this context, I suggest reviewing the summary, with a synthesis of the results and conclusion, emphasizing what is current and what could be studied in each family.

The sources consulted were not clear. I suggest that, within the proposed objectives, you subdivide the subjects into topics. It was not clear "Selected Manuscripts, Selected Studies, The following studies were selected, and Manuscript Selected." A concise conclusion to the matter is lacking.
