

Review of: "Why Engineering Education is Losing Charm among Students in India? A Discussion"

Balamuralithara Balakrishnan¹

¹ Universiti Pendidikan Sultan Idris

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare here.

The paper has discussed a good topic related to engineering education. The content structure is systematic and enable the readers to follow easily the arguments that the author would like to project via this article.

It can be better if the latest references could support the arguments which have been highlighted in the article.