1. In the abstract, you can't use references. You made this mistake in your method and should make a change.
2. There is a difference between the purpose of your research in the abstract and the last paragraph of the preface, and changes are recommended.
3. As your title says, it is about the effects of physical activity and alcohol status on self-reported health in cancer patients. However, after reading your full text, it is found that your narrative is ambiguous in terms of point of view and lack of clarity in presentation and the full text should be rectified.
4. In Socio-economic Factors, you have included BMI as a socio-economic factor and it is recommended that you consult the information to make the appropriate changes.
5. In your conclusion, the effect of physical activity on cancer patients is repeated in several expressions. When expressing the same point of view, you can co-cite the literature with consistent research results in this point of view, instead of repeating the same point of view many times lyrically.
6. Also in your conclusion, you point out that the length of sleep has an effect on cancer, but in pointing out that prolonged sleep can lead to the development of rectal cancer, you are repeating the point while also making subparagraphs, which you need to revise here.
7. It is recommended that you make a lot of revisions to the presentation of the whole article and try to make it easy to understand and concise.
