

Review of: "International Non-Governmental Organizations (INGOs) in Humanitarian Field: why and how to engage with Planetary Health?"

Kristine Sørensen<sup>1</sup>

<sup>1</sup> Global Health Literacy Academy

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

Thank you for an interesting article. I particularly found it interesting that all the excuses were listed and as such the paper acts like a 'mirror' of our human behaviour when facing a complex matter. It becomes clear that there is so much more we can act on, if we move away from limiting beliefs.

It might be interesting to add the perspectives of the Lancet Commission on Planetary Health to the discussion since the association to global health is mentioned in the introduction. See the link: Safeguarding human health in the Anthropocene epoch: report of The Rockefeller Foundation–Lancet Commission on planetary health \(thelancet.com\)